Intro, 4x: F

A

Brought up by way of the hammer, seen all the stars
Telescope, Stephen Hawking, Chewbacca, Arthur C Clarke

B E

Captain Yildiz phd'd on Warp

ESA employed volunteering to charter the dark
Gets to pilot a Sojoez to change crews on MIR
Interstellar taxi driving job

C E

And there isn't a thing he can do

Floating halfway between earth and moon

C F
Push comes to shove

Fm

("He's taking off")

Dream coming true for the captain, first stop is Mars
фара on, дворник off, turn the ключик Sojoez departs
Captain Yildiz's space adventure starts

Before changes come later than soon
Get your own ship, go beyond the moon
Make sure you're gone

F

You went through hell in a Florence park, arrested in your flat in Prague

Almost died at Walheims inn without a yellow cardigan

So many times have you said to me
"Nothing is better read than seen"
You saw that thing in what's-it's-name, and missed a lot of proven fame
You took the time for photographs, but not for explanation cards

Refrein:

'Cause the little things are bigger then they seem (do do do)
Cm Ais
Never travel 'round the world to see it all
F D
When you can't explain a single thing you saw
Just stay at home

4x: G C

I do do do (do do do) like Dosers don't
Sit back, relax and stay at home
I'll learn of men in Montailou
Battoeta on mount Kasioen
Copperfield in Blunderstone
And how the Argo made it home

Take some of your time to think and read (do do do)
'Cause the little things are bigger then they seem (do do do)
Never travel 'round the world to see it all
When you can't explain a single thing you saw
(En je moet naar me luisteren als ik je zeg:)

Brug:

Ais F
I can see it in the way you walk and talk and wear your hair
Ais F
I can see it in the way you always smile at me
Ais F
I can tell by what you wear, I know you're gonna forget this

So what's the moral to this tale?
Prepare your head before you sail
Reading gets you anywhere
Without leaving your easy chair
Wise as a historian
Without the Doc's DeLorean

So take some of your time to think and read
'Cause the little things are bigger then they seem
Take some of your time to think and read
'Cause the little things are bigger then they seem
Never travel 'round the world to see it all
When you can't explain a single thing you saw
Just stay at home (do do do)

G Gathered two hundred beggars and 12 security men Am
They say you equal our father
And that man wanted you dead
But if we'd've killed our own father
We'd be sown in the sack

Refrein:

Am
There were no dead at Josafat
No heaven-hell division
No battle with the antichrist
No end to injury

You left your business to Kefa
Who set a branch up in Rome
But why reward an apostle
To whom you're unknown?

The blood you shed of from Seth's tree
Was caught up by the grail
But when so close to the Satan
You should have been saved

There were no dead at Josafat
No heaven-hell division
No battle with the antichrist
No end to injury
You spoke the soundbite "It is done"
Went on your hellish mission
So many commons left behind
So many friends set free

B C D C B
I'm staying here only for you

We should have been some overlapping roof tiles, or is there an easier way of hiding in the sun?
Tiny people's problems seem so futile
Don't they know that overload is overdone
Oh see me, see me see me lying here
Red rag rendezvous
Rather out in the rain

With quiet people, saying nothing reading science books until the dark grabs in (It's darkening)

We should have been an ancient jar and cover
Or is there an easier way of hiding underground?
Left behind by people long forgotten
So many centuries with hardly any sound
Oh leave me, leave me, leave me buried here
Rather no light-confined
Than roundabout rides
I'm staying here only for you, only for you

Back to normal size
And we'll be alright

To many people planning too much plans to plan
How can you stop over six million miles of men?

All that rivers say
Will be laughed away
Take their good advice
